

Tribal Standards of Care: History, Culture, & Healing when Working with Native, Indigenous, & Tribal Populations

For professionals in psychology, behavioral health, and social work

This training is designed to cover the complex and multi-layered topic of Tribal Standards of Care. When working with tribal members and tribal communities it is necessary to understand historical events and their impacts today. The training covers topics of Nebraska tribes, intergenerational trauma, and outcomes that can be attributed such as: substance use, suicide, mental health diagnosis, and Missing and Murdered Indigenous Persons. Also included are behavioral health interventions with families or individuals and how culture can be used as prevention and treatment.

OBJECTIVES

1. Describe two Government Acts that impacted Native Communities.
2. Explain three challenges to Native Communities.
3. Discuss three culturally relevant interventions helpful to Native Communities.
